

Summer 2024 “Sun’s Out, Books Out!” Initiative

The Division of Academics, Department of English Language Arts is providing all rising second and rising third grade students with two free books and a reading journal to encourage independent reading during the summer months. For our rising seventh and rising eighth grade students who are reading below grade level, we will be providing one free book and a reading journal to encourage independent reading during the summer months. The free books are selected by the Department of English Language Arts based on criteria that demonstrates high-interest and reading level appropriateness for these students. Please make sure to complete the Summer Reading Log by grade level.
